In re

ROBERT J. LA ROCCO,

Lawyer (Bar No. 42536).

Supreme Court No. _____

DECLARATION OF
ZACHARY HOGAN

I, Zachary Kenneth Hogan, declare and state:

1. I am over the age of 18 years of age and am competent to testify if called as a witness in these proceedings. I make the statements in this declaration from my personal knowledge.

2. In March 2011, I was an active member of the military deployed in Afghanistan. At that time, my wife informed me that she wanted a divorce.

3. In September 2011, the military began deducting child support from my pay, even though my wife's child is not mine.

4. In June 2011, I contacted lawyer Robert La Rocco. Mr. La Rocco agreed to help me with both the dissolution and the paternity issue.

5. Mr. La Rocco told me that the fee for his services would be between $800 and $3,000, depending on what had to be filed and whether the matter was contested. Via email dated May 24, 2011, Mr. Lo Rocco wrote that, "Anything you pay me, beyond the flat-fee $799, goes into my trust account, and can be returned to you on short notices [sic]." A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit A to this declaration.

6. On June 14, 2011, Mr. La Rocco emailed a fee agreement to me. I signed the agreement and returned it to Mr. La Rocco via email. The fee agreement specified that I would be charged at an hourly rate. A copy of the unsigned agreement is attached as Exhibit B to this declaration.

7. I never received a copy of the agreement with Mr. La Rocco's signature.

8. On June 14, 2011, I paid Mr. La Rocco $3,000 by credit card, with the understanding that any unearned fee would be refunded.

9. On August 31, 2011, Mr. La Rocco filed a petition for dissolution in Thurston County Superior Court No. 11-3-01258-2, two and a half months after he took my payment. A copy of the docket for this matter is attached as Exhibit C to this declaration.

10. After several months, I asked Mr. La Rocco what was taking so long, but Mr. La Rocco assured me that everything would be completed soon.

11. On January 31, 2012, Mr. La Rocco wrote to me, "We do have a default, yes. In a dissolution case that doesn't mean very much though. She can file a response anytime and the court will take it." A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit D to this declaration.

12. When Mr. La Rocco made this statement on January 31, 2012, he had not yet served the dissolution petition on my estranged wife and there was no "default." See, Exhibit C.

13. In February 2012, I returned to Washington.

14. Sometime between 2013 and 2015, the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) contacted me because my estranged wife had given birth to another child, and I had to sign documents stating that I was not the father so the biological father's name could be placed on the birth certificate.

15. I contacted Mr. La Rocco and again questioned what was taking so long.

16. I subsequently learned, in 2014, that the court had dismissed the dissolution in July 2012. See, Exhibit C.

17. In August 2012, Mr. La Rocco represented me at a hearing held by DSHS relating to my child support obligations. After the hearing, Mr. La Rocco told me that the judge would rule in my favor and I would not have to pay that much in child support. When I received the judge's final order two weeks after the hearing, I learned that I was ordered to pay $510 per month.

18. Mr. La Rocco informed me that there was going to be a hearing in my matter on November 6, 2012. On November 7, 2012, I sent Mr. La Rocco an email asking "how court went yesterday?" Mr. La Rocco replied by email the next day saying that, "things went well! I'll call you with an update a bit later." A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit E to this declaration.

19. On January 2, 2013, Mr. La Rocco wrote to me, "I'm on it, - and yes, the actions have been filed. I'm pushing as fast as I can." A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit F to this declaration.

20. On January 7, 2013, I wrote to Mr. La Rocco, "Do you see any chance in [sic] divorced before the end of next month?" Mr. La Rocco replied on that same date, "I'm pushing... it'll be tough." A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit G to this declaration.

21. There was no dissolution case pending when Mr. La Rocco wrote the November 2012 and January 2013 emails because the case had been dismissed in July 2012. See, Exhibit C.

22. In May 2013, after months of believing I would be divorced any day, I contacted the court and learned that there had been no action on my case since it was initially filed, and the case had been dismissed in July 2012 because Mr. La Rocco did not appear at a hearing. I was s not aware of a hearing, and Mr. La Rocco was on vacation in New York during the time of the hearing.

23. I confronted Mr. La Rocco, who claimed it was all a mistake by the court, that he had not received notice of any hearings, and that he would re-file the case immediately.

24. I did not want to start over with a new attorney, as I could not afford to hire a new attorney due to Mr. La Rocco's incompetence, so I gave Mr. La Rocco another chance, hoping that he would get things taken care of.

25. In June 2013, Mr. La Rocco filed a Petition to Disestablish Parentage and a proposed Order, in Thurston County Superior Court No. 13-5-50063-7.

26. Via email on June 26, 2013, when there was no dissolution pending, Mr. La Rocco wrote to me, "We will be in a position to get you divorced, in my estimation, by fall of this year." A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit H to this declaration.

27. On August 27, 2013, when there was no dissolution pending, Mr. La Rocco emailed me: "[T]he pleadings have indeed been filed. We will have a first motion hearing coming up soon, but I don't have a date yet. I will get the date with 9 court days' notice; I will get it to you as soon as I have it." A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit I to this declaration.

28. But as of September 9, 2013, I was still waiting. I emailed Mr. La Rocco that day, "Hi Robert. Do you have the dates for any upcoming [sic] hearings?????" See, Exhibit I.

29. In an email to Mr. La Rocco dated October 17, 2013, I asked:

I would greatly appreciate an update on my case so I can let work know what is going on. Do I have any upcoming court dates? If so, I need to know the dates and times so I can be there. Also, I need better communication with you in the future on court dates. Do you foresee [sic] any issues with my divorce getting finalized before the end of the year???

A copy of this email is attached as Exhibit J to this declaration.

30. On November 20, 2013, Mr. La Rocco and I signed a new Petition for Dissolution. But Mr. La Rocco did not file it until May 7, 2014, in Thurston County Superior Court No. 14-3-00657-9. A copy of the docket for this matter is attached as Exhibit K to this declaration.

31. During the time Mr. La Rocco represented me, I continually requested copies of the paperwork filed with the court, as well as receipts, and Mr. La Rocco would tell me that he would email it, but I never received it.

32. Mr. La Rocco also claimed he was attending hearings, but would never give me the dates or times, and told me that I did not need to attend. When I asked what the hearings were, Mr. La Rocco would say that they were "normal negotiations."

33. On March 14, 2017, Mr. La Rocco told me that my case was going to trial on March 21, 2017. On March 20, 2017, Mr. La Rocco called and told me that the hearing was postponed due to a criminal case.

34. I called the Thurston County Superior Court and learned there was no court date scheduled on March 21, 2017, and there had been no action in the case since September 2016. See, Exhibit K.

35. When I confronted Mr. La Rocco, he claimed the court gave me inaccurate information, and he would get it straightened out.

36. At this time, I demanded my money back and my file.

37. On March 22, 2017, I filed a grievance against Mr. La Rocco with the Washington State Bar Association.

38. When I filed the grievance, I could not contact Mr. La Rocco. I tried to contact Mr. La Rocco via text messages to his cell phone, to his wife's cell phone, emails, and phone calls.

39. In June 2017, I learned that the action filed in Thurston County Superior Court No. 13-5-50063-7 had been dismissed on May 11, 2017 because there had been no action in the matter during the prior 12 months.

40. After consultation with Mr. La Rocco, in July 2017, I contacted my estranged wife to see if she would agree to finalize the dissolution. She did. We were to meet with Mr. La Rocco on August 11, 2017, to sign the documents, but I was unable to reach Mr. La Rocco to determine whether he had all the paperwork ready for my estranged wife to sign.

41. Mr. La Rocco's communication with me has been irregular. Sometimes his response to me is prompt, and sometimes it takes weeks or even months for him to respond to me. When I finally hear from Mr. La Rocco, he apologizes for the delay in communication, and states that he was sick, he had family in town visiting, he was going on vacation, he was in continuing legal education trainings, or his wife was sick.

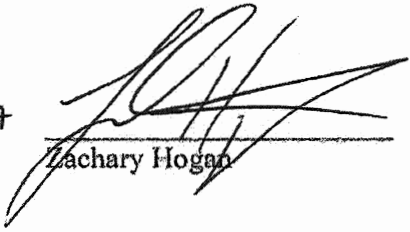

42. In early July 2017, Mr. La Rocco asked me to withdraw the grievance I filed against him because, according to him, it created a conflict of interest if he continued to represent me. I declined to withdraw the grievance.

43. My divorce has been ongoing for over the last 6 years, and I am still not divorced. For more than five years I have paid child support for a child who is not mine because Mr. La Rocco failed to take action.

44. I certify under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of Washington that the foregoing is true and correct.

Zachary,

Anything you pay to me, beyond the flat-fee $799, goes into my trust account, and can be returned to you on short notices.

I can meet you in Olympia; I am in the Olympia area at least once a week. I don't have an office there, however, and suggest that we meet at your mother's place. If you do want to meet me in my office, I can offer you my office in North Seattle, or my office in Bellingham.

We'll need to get the timeline straight on your wife's pregnancy, but I think that you have a good case for the paternity determination.

I will be out of the state from June 1 to June 4; I do offer evening and weekend appointments, and we can schedule something on short notice once you know when your R&R will actually start.

My leave dates are supposed to be the 28th of May to the 11th of June, but that all depends on what day I leave Afghanistan and I land in Dallas.... What kind of evidence will I need to prove the child is not mine??? She has told me a few times that he is not mine, but she put my name on the birth certificate. The only address I have for my wife is her parents address.. That is it. Do you have an office in Olympia?? My mom lives in Olympia, and I am staying with her while I am on leave. Could I pay the $3000 just in case everything is needed, and the services that are not used, I just get back???? Also, I am wondering, would I be able to do anything about her getting rid of my 2 purebred English Bulldogs???? That is what really devastated me the most... It was mainly the male that pissed me off the most. I had him since he was 7 weeks old, and been through a lot with him. He meant the world to me. The child was born June 9th, 2009 and I believe my wife and I got together late October, early Nov 2008. Everyone tells me that she was 2 months pregnant when we got together... That is really the only evidence I have...

Zachary,

The highest cost I quoted would be around $3,000, that is correct; however, I would not charge for those services that aren't needed. In other words, if your wife will admit that the child is not yours, then we don't need to worry about costs establishing paternity. It's possible that the court will order the mother to pay for the paternity test, but you will need strong evidence that you are not the father before the court will order that.

If you hire me, your mother will not need a power of attorney, I would take care of everything.

It would be easiest if we know your wife's address, of course, but if that's not possible then we can have her served by mail, or by publication. Mail is much less costly, so that is what we would be trying for.

If you give me your exact R&R dates, we can set up an initial consultation; there would be no charge for that.

Subject: Re: Marriage Dissolution

I have the email she sent me when she told me she was leaving me, and she stated in that email that she had all the money she wanted from me, and didn't want anything else from me. She admitted to taking my $3600 re-enlistment bonus, and got rid of my 2 purebred English Bulldogs. She also got rid of a few more things, but won't admit to that. I don't know if she actually filed for spousal and child support or not. My friend who cleared me from military housing thinks she did. My old company commander sent me a message on facebook stating the the inspector generals office called him for non-payment of spousal support. My 1SG, current Commander, and the rest of my chain of command do not expect me to pay my wife, since she left military housing, admitted to taking money, and left a bill for damages she caused to military housing. My friend told me that the military is going to re-imburse me for the damages, and go after my wife and make her pay for them. I was told by a friend I could ask the court to have my wife pay for the paternity test. Is this true??? If so, I would like for her to pay it. I'm supposed to start collecting my BAH for housing and once I do, I will be able to make a down payment, as well as a little more. I do not know where my wife is living at right now. Last I was told was she was living in a hotel until her sister moved, and then she would be living with her sister. I have tried to get in contact with her, but she does not reply to any of my emails. Neither does her mom. I have pictures one of the 1SG's back at Ft. Bragg took, the weekend after my wife left, of the house and the way she left it, and the living conditions are terrible. If child services had seen the pictures, they would have taken the child away from her. There was dried poop on the child crib mattress, about 3 weeks worth of dirty dishes in the sink and on the stove, laundry room was a mess, and she had her sex toys scattered throughout the house. I have these pictures, and my friend has more pictures from him cleaning and clearing the house. I am going to say she is not going to agree to everything, so with the court filing fee, your fee, the DNA test fee, if I can't get my wife to pay, I am looking at a cost of around $3000??? Another option I can do is see if I can get a loan from my bank to pay the entire fee up front, and then just pay my bank back..... I am going back home to WA state for my R and R leave, and I should be in WA around the 1st of June, and then I will be home for 2 weeks, then I will be coming back to finish my deployment. If I gave my mom a special power of attorney, would she be able to handle all of the court issues and things for me since I am deployed????

Zachary,

I can help you get divorced.

If the work is uncontested, and your wife agrees to everything, my fee is $799, and the court filing fee is $280.

If she wants spousal support, however, and child support, I doubt that she will agree to everything. In that case, my fee is based on the amount of work involved. I can still do the actual divorce papers for $799, but the determination of paternity is about $800 more, and the work surrounding spousal support would add another $600. If the paternity requires a DNA test, and the court orders one, then the cost for the test would be in addition to my fee. So, the total fees will be between $800 and $2,300, plus the DNA test.

The tests range from $400 to $600, depending on complexity.

For a soldier, I can offer a payment plan under which you create a monthly allotment to pay me in relatively small amounts, after a $700 downpayment. I would pay the court filing fee ($280) out of the downpayment.

I wish I had a better number for you, but I'm afraid that's about the best I can do. I can assure you that this is a competitive figure.

Please let me know if you want to get this started for you.

Hello, my name is SPC Zachary Hogan. I was referred to you by Andrew Olmstead. At the beginning of March, my wife emailed me stating she took my re-enlistment bonus, and was leaving me, and wanting a divorce. She has moved from NC back home to WA at the end of March. I have had no contact with her since she moved. I am currently deployed to Afghanistan. She stated she does not want anything else from me, and wants a divorce. I believe this will be an uncontested divorce, the only thing that is in question is the paternity of her 2 year old son. We have gotten in several arguments in the past, and she stated he was not mine. I just want to get a DNA test to see if he is mine or not. I asked her to get one done, but she told me she is not getting any tests done unless it is court ordered. I had 2 purebred English Bulldogs that she got rid of, and was wondering if I'd be able to do anything about that?? She also got rid of my Xbox 360 and PS3 that I had, as well as about 1/2 of my DVD's I had purchased before her and I met and got married. I found out from my mom, that my friend back at Ft. Bragg, NC somehow found out my wife filed for spousal and child support. I was wondering how much you charge??? If you could email me back and let me know, I would greatly appreciate it.... Thank you...

My wife and I got married at her sisters house in Olympia, WA on January 10th, 2009, and she put my name on the child's birth certificate... I am wanting to divorce her, and get be done with my wife, her family, and not have to have any contact with any of them anymore. I emailed her mom asking for my wife's address, or my wife to get in contact with me, but I doubt she will.

V/R,

Zach Hogan

Re.: Fee Agreement

Dear Zach:

This letter is to confirm in writing the agreement that you and I reached on June 13, 2011 regarding the representation in the presently pending or anticipated civil matters listed below:

- ☐ Marriage dissolution, to be filed in Whatcom County, and paternity determination if required.

It is our understanding that you will pay me an attorney fee billed at an hourly rate of $180.00. You understand and agree that some of the work relating to the matter may be performed by contract attorneys, paralegal assistants, and other persons I employ. Contract attorney work will be billed at the same rate as mine, work done by paralegal assistants work will be billed at an hourly rate of $60.00, work done by office clerks will be billed at an hourly rate of $45.

Receipt of a fee and cost advance in the amount of $3,000.00 by Visa card ending in -8044 on June 14, 2011 is hereby acknowledged. You agree to make the following additional payments:

Additional payments will be due only if the balance falls below $500.00. Any such additional amounts will be billed separately.

You understand that all payments must be made in a timely manner. You authorize me to withdraw from this representation if any one payment is not made in a timely manner, or if any check is returned unpaid by your bank.

You also understand that my fee is based not only on the complexity of the case but also on my experience and expertise in handling such matters and on the fact that this case will require this law office to set aside a considerable block of time to protect your interests.

I understand that someone other than you may pay all or part of the attorney fee; however, acceptance of payment from others does not waive your attorney-client privilege. My duty to you of loyalty and confidence will not be violated.

You have also agreed that any and all costs (including any investigative costs and expert witness and witness fees) incurred will be exclusive of the fixed fee set forth in this agreement. All costs and expenses will be your sole responsibility. You authorize me to pay costs and expenses, as well as earned attorney fees, from the deposited funds. If the deposit is exceeded, you agree to promptly deposit the sums I will reasonably estimate will be required within five days of my written request or within five days of my billing to you for costs advanced.

It is also understood that your payment of the attorney fees set forth herein does not guarantee any result. The only guarantee I can make is that I will diligently seek to protect your rights and that you will receive the best possible representation I can offer. You, as the client, agree and understand that your own cooperation is absolutely essential to my ability to best advance your interests. Accordingly, you agree to keep appointments, attend hearings, and otherwise cooperate, and you understand that your failure to cooperate will constitute grounds for me to seek to withdraw from this case.

We do have a default, yes. In a dissolution case that doesn't mean very much though. She can file a response anytime and the court will take it.

Robert,

The new year is upon us..... You now have Kasi's home address, so things should be easier to serve her and get things done quicker..... Have those parentage documents been filed yet?? If so, have you heard anything on when the next court date will be and time??? I am needing my divorce to be done before the end of next month. My unit is trying to move me into the barracks, but housing is telling me that since I am married, and getting money for being married for housing, I cannot move into the barracks. I tell my unit this and they say that they can move me into the barracks.... I do not know who is right in this situation.... I need to go talk to legal but they will not talk to me unless I have consent from you, and they will need it in writing.... Can you write me a general consent letter please so I can talk to legal about everything that is going on??? Can I get that by Friday please?? Can I also get all receipts of everything that has been filed through the courts, showing the fee, amount paid, and how much I have left in my account with you please by Monday??? Also, do you think that everything can be done before the end of February??? I look forward to hearing back from you.

V/R,

Zach Hogan

Robert,

I would really appreciate it if I could get that consent letter from you today, so I can go talk to JAG this week. I also want receipts for everything that has been filed, and for every service that has been performed please. I also want an update on where we stand in the divorce. Are there any upcoming court dates? Are we still waiting for Kasi to respond to the parentage papers? Has she responded? If she doesn't respond, what does that mean? If she does?

Robert,

The new year is upon us..... You now have Kasi's home address, so things should be easier to serve her and get things done quicker..... Have those parentage documents been filed yet?? If so, have you heard anything on when the next court date will be and time??? I am needing my divorce to be done before the end of next month. My unit is trying to move me into the barracks, but housing is telling me that since I am married, and getting money for being married for housing, I cannot move into the barracks. I tell my unit this and they say that they can move me into the barracks.... I do not know who is right in this situation.... I need to go talk to legal but they will not talk to me unless I have consent from you, and they will need it in writing.... Can you write me a general consent letter please so I can talk to legal about everything that is going on??? Can I get that by Friday please?? Can I also get all receipts of everything that has been filed through the courts, showing the fee, amount paid, and how much I have left in my account with you please by Monday??? Also, do you think that everything can be done before the end of February??? I look forward to hearing back from you.

V/R,

Zach Hogan

Robert,

I tried emailing Chris yesterday, and the emails kept getting returned. I did look through past emails from him, and he did give me a cell phone number, but I haven't texted it to see if it is still his number or not because I don't want him to have my number. I texted you his number last night, but just in case you did not receive it, his number he gave me is 360-292-9217.

It has been nearly 2 weeks since we met, and I have not received any updates pertaining to my divorce. Has the paperwork I signed when we met been filed at the courthouse??? Do we have any upcoming court dates??? Could you please let me know in the next 24 hours please so I can let my work know. I am looking forward to your response.

Sincerely,

Zach

Robert,

It has been nearly a month since we last met or spoke about my court case. I have not heard anything from you, nor received the time line that you said you would have to me the following week. I would greatly appreciate an update on my case so I can let work know what is going on. Do I have any upcoming court dates? If so, I need to know the dates and times so I can be there. Also, I need better communication with you in the future on court dates. Do you foresee any issues with my divorce getting finalized before the end of the year??? I would greatly appreciate a response by the end of the day today.

Sincerely,

Zach
